American Troops Will Be Sent To Assist Valiant Italian Armies

AMERICANS BEAT OFF TWO HUN ATTACKS

By Lowell Melle,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
With the Americans on the Marne, June 17.—American forces holding Belleau wood beat off two German attacks within two hours yesterday morning. They inflicted heavy losses on the enemy, but got off without a scratch.

The attack followed a fruitless enemy assault about 10:30 Saturday night. A barrage announced a resumption of the effort about two o'clock yesterday morning. The Boches showed up at the edge of the wood on schedule, but were driven off by a withering rifle and machine gun fire.

The attempt was repeated at four o'clock. Following the usual barrage the German infantry came slipping down a steep slope into a wheat field. As they broke from the field and rushed toward the wood, the American rifles and machine guns again drove them back. They fled in disorder.

FRENCH TROOPS IMPROVE POSITION

Paris, June 17.—French troops improved their positions on the western portion of the Marne front, the French war office announced today.

German raids in the Vosges were repulsed.

"Between the Oise and the Aisne, northwest of Hauterive, a demonstration allowed the French to better positions and take 100 prisoners and a number of machine guns," the communiqué said. "German raids failed in Caurierres wood and the Vosges."

UTTERANCES OF DEBS EXAMINED VERY CAREFULLY

Cleveland, June 17.—Federal Attorney Wertz was examining today the reports of federal agents who heard the address of Eugene V. Debs, former socialist candidate for president at Canton, yesterday.

"If I find that Debs said anything that violated the espionage law," said Wertz, "I'll bring it to the attention of the federal grand jury at once."

Debs spoke in a Canton park before about 1,200 persons, most of whom delegates to the state socialist convention.

"I must be extremely careful what I say and more careful how I say it," Debs himself said in beginning his address.

Debs made it clear that he has not repudiated the socialist party's platform, which pledged opposition to selective service and to other war measures.

He charged that his position had been misrepresented in attempts to discourage members of the party, and to make it appear that we are divided among ourselves."

Debs does favor, he said, a national convention for the purpose of testing the party's attitude toward the war, "in the light of recent developments."

Debs praised the Bolsheviks of Russia.

He also praised the I. W. W.

OVER THIRD OF HUN ATTACKING PARTY SLAUGHTERED BY SAMMIES

With the American Armies in France, June 17.—More than a third of the large force of Germans which attacked Xivry at day break yesterday was wiped out, it was established today.

Eight hundred Boches participated in the attack, which was made on a half mile front, extending on both sides of the village.

Both artilleries maintained a terrible barrage during the attack.

American patrols raiding in the Toul sector report enemy trenches are occupied by an unusually large number of troops, contrary to their recent policy of withdrawing into the support trenches at night. The Germans also are using a large number of observation balloons.

It is permissible to announce that Americans have been occupying additional sectors on the Toul front since May 27, including some east of Seichprey, where the biggest fight in this area was staged several weeks ago.

CONGRATULATIONS!
Dayton, Ohio, June 17.—Governor and Mrs. James M. Cox were showered with congratulatory messages from all parts of the country today over the arrival Sunday morning at Trail's End, their country home, near this city, of a son, who has been christened Thomas Blair Cox, in honor of Mrs. Cox's father, Thomas Blair, a Chicago business man. Mrs. Cox was formerly Miss Marguerite Blair.

DENIES STORY THAT KAISER WAS HER GUEST

Havana, June 17.—Mrs. Adolph Busch, widow of the St. Louis brewer, planned to leave here today for the United States if accommodations could be secured on a passenger steamer. Mrs. Busch is on her way home from Germany by way of Spain and reached here on the Spanish steamer Alfonso XIII. Mrs. Busch was closely watched here. Newspaper men were allowed to speak to her only in the presence of officials. One reporter who boarded the steamer when it entered the harbor, was arrested by port authorities just after being introduced to Mrs. Busch.

Major Curach declared he had special instructions from Washington to watch Mrs. Busch closely.

Mrs. Busch's attorney, Harry B. Hawes of St. Louis, met her in Switzerland when she got out of Germany and is with her now. He denied that Mrs. Busch had ever received the kaiser and the crown prince at her castles on the Rhine, and said she had no such castles.

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN WILL COME NEXT OCTOBER

Washington, June 17.—The government is preparing to launch the fourth Liberty loan in October—approximately a $6,000,000,000 issue the largest of any nation during the war to date, at an interest rate of 4 1/4 per cent.

Secretary McAdoo informed bankers they will be expected during the next four months to assume $4,000,000,000 in treasury certificates, and $2,000,000,000 additional will be offered to the public. Plans for the next great loan are being formulated. Posters, bulletins and valuable trophies to assist in arousing enthusiasm already have been tentatively selected.

RAILROADS TO POOL ALL CAR EQUIPMENT

Washington, June 17.—Railroad under government control today were further moulded into one great system by the pooling of all car equipment.

In a sweeping order, the railroad administration abolished the per diem plan of charge for the use of cars between individual lines. The ruling makes all equipment common property.

Debs made it clear that he has not repudiated the socialist party's platform, which pledged opposition to selective service and to other war measures.

He charged that his position had been misrepresented in attempts to discourage members of the party, and to make it appear that we are divided among ourselves."

Debs does favor, he said, a national convention for the purpose of testing the party's attitude toward the war, "in the light of recent developments."

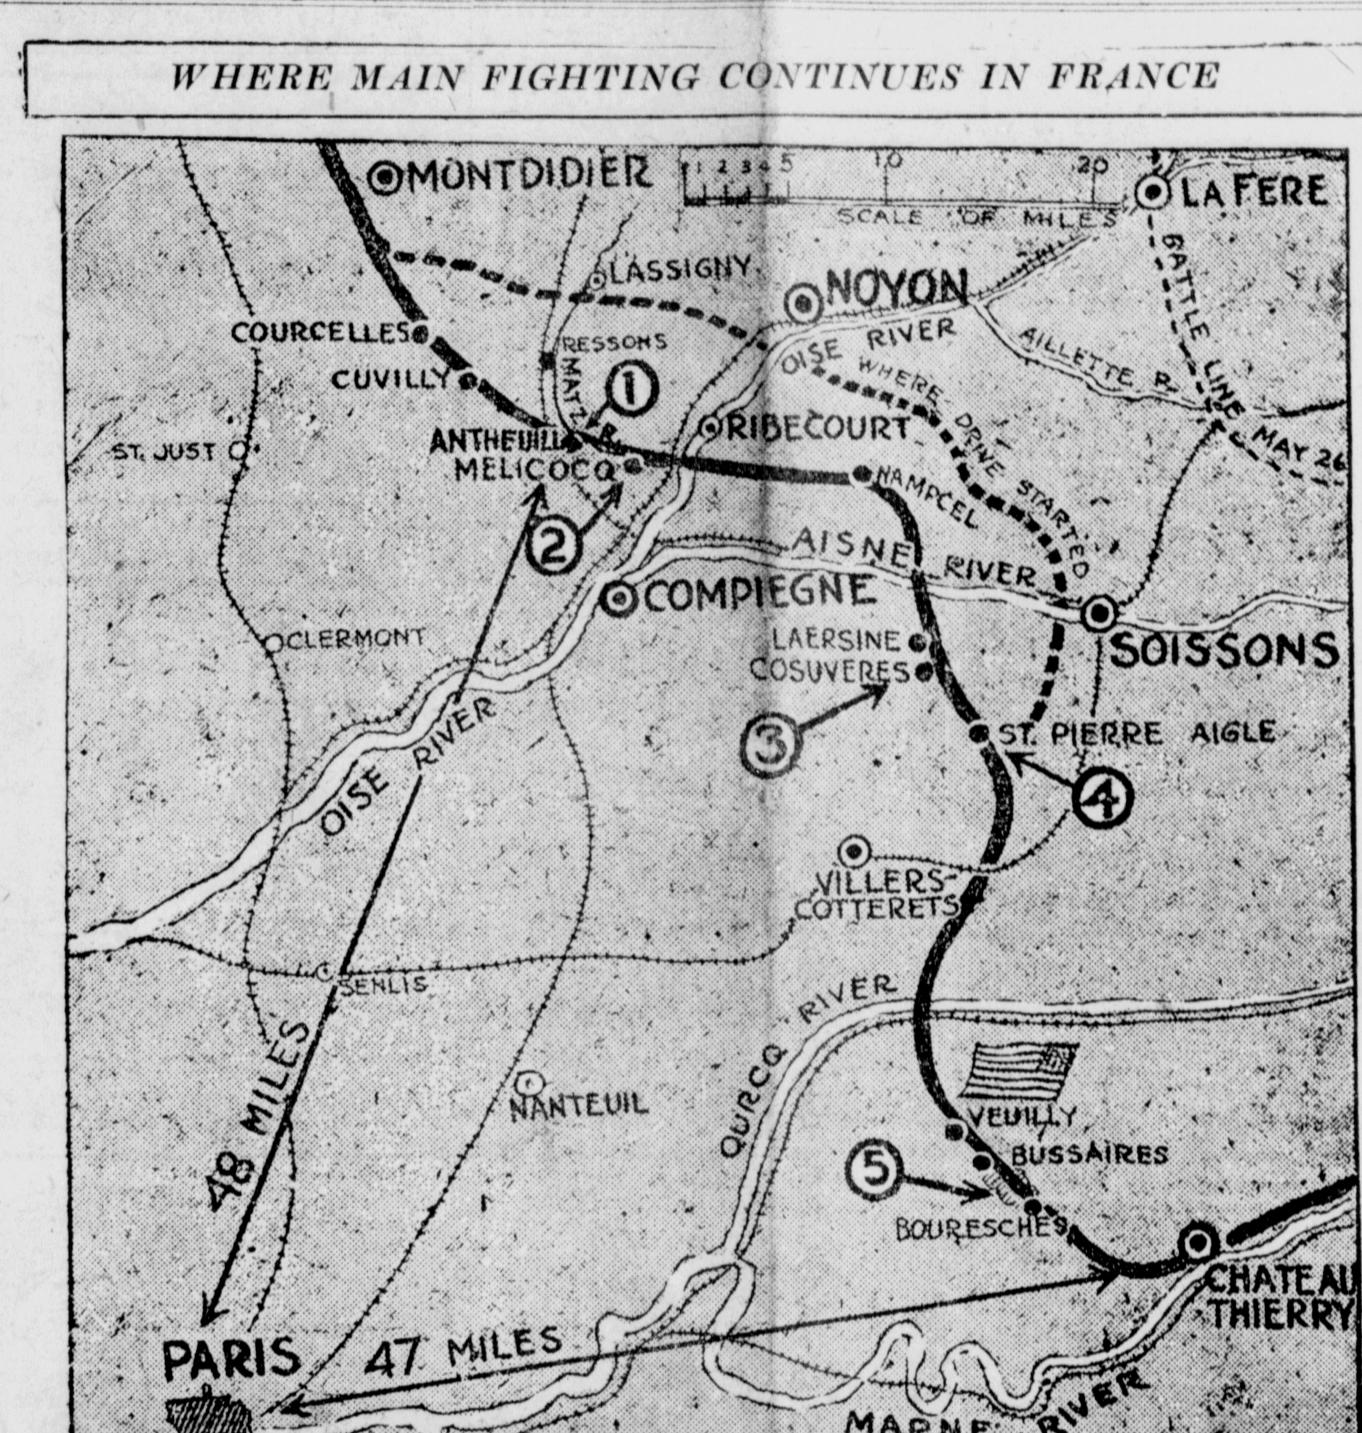

Debs praised the Bolsheviks of Russia.

He also praised the I. W. W.

For the second time since the Americans took over a sector in German territory east of Belfort—official announcement of which was permitted Saturday night—they repulsed a German raid Friday morning, it may now be stated. Only one American was captured and the enemy suffered severe casualties.

French military officials now confirmed that the Lieutenant Eddie Bickenbacher has officially bagged five German planes. His victims were acquired between April 2 and May 30. He is the second American-trained ace Bickenbacher, who formerly was a famous automobile race driver, declared that aviation is safe, compared with motor racing.

The first announcement that American troops are in the line within German territory, made Saturday night,

The above map shows the scene of the main activities of the past few days along the battle front in France. Figure 1 indicates where French hurled the Germans back across the Matz river when the Hun forces at that point menaced Compiègne. Figure 2 shows that section of the line which the French straightened by a strategic withdrawal of about five miles along a seven-mile front. Figure 3 shows where the Germans made a slight advance as far as ravine east of Laersine. Figure 4 indicates where enemy gained a foothold at St. Pierre-Aigle and in Cosuvres. Figure 5 indicates where American forces waded into Germans at Bouresches, broke up the Hun's attack and mowed down the German troops.

BRITISH CASUALTIES FOR WEEK.

London, June 17.—British casualties published during the week ending Saturday totalled 33,892. They were divided as follows:
Killed	Wounded	Missing	Total
255	771	301	1,327
4,208	16,645	11,712	32,565
4,463	17,461	12,013	33,892

FIRST PICTURE OF SINK FEINERS WHOSE ARREST PREVENTED REVOLT

This is the first picture to reach the U. S. showing some of the band of Sinn Feiners taken in Ireland by officials in a wholesale raid upon the headquarters of the organization. The arrests nipped in the bud a threatened revolt which would have aided Germany by stirring up trouble at home for England. The Sinn Feiners in the picture are being taken to the station under guard, to be removed to Dublin to await trial.

OHIO S. S. MEETS IN PIQUA THIS WEEK

Piqua, June 17.—Hikes, campfires, weiner roasts and other outdoor entertainments will feature the secondary convention of the Ohio Sunday School Association, which opened here today with 1000 boys and girls between the ages of 15 and 24 in attendance.

The boys and girls will hold separate conferences today and tomorrow, Wednesday, the closing day, will be given over to joint meetings.

Speakers on the program will include Dr. Minor Lee Bates, president of Hiram College, Hiram, O.; Miss Minnie Kennedy, Nashville, Tenn.; secondary superintendent of the Southern Methodist Episcopal church; Preston G. Orwig, secondary division superintendent of Pennsylvania; Burr Blackburn, Ohio secondary division superintendent, and Arthur T. Arnold, general secretary of the Ohio Sunday School Association.

RAIDS REPORTED BY MARSHAL HAIG

London, June 17.—Raiding operations, and a brief enemy bombardment in the Albert region were reported by Field Marshal Haig today.

"East of Arras we made a successful raid and took a few prisoners," the statement said. "An attempted enemy raid in the neighborhood of Cividochy was repulsed yesterday morning."

"The enemy bombarded us north-west of Albert for a short period last night."

FIFTY AUSTRIAN DIVISIONS USED

Paris, June 17.—Fifty Austrian divisions (600,000 men) were thrown into the attack on the Italian front today.

BEAT ALL RECORDS

London, June 17.—"Arrivals of American troops in the past few days have eclipsed all records," the Post declared today.

Considered purely as a shipping feat it is something hitherto never accomplished in mercantile annals.

AUSTRIANS LOSE FIVE MEN TO ONE LOST BY ITALIANS

Washington, June 17.—American troops aid for Italy will be forthcoming soon.

With the Austrian offensive underway, this fact developed today. In line with the pledges of President Wilson and Secretary Baker, U. S. forces will take their places along with the Italians and other allies. They will not be vast in numbers, their purpose is to show Italy, concretely that the United States is backing her. American aviators and forces of other kinds have been in Italy for some time, but there has not been any announcement of United States in the Italian trenches.

The Italian embassy's first message indicated that, while the Austrians had made some progress, the counter attacks had developed quickly and satisfactorily.

There will be no great yielding such as accompanied the previous Teuton smash, it is felt.

The Italian morale is satisfactory.

Infusing of British and French and promise of early American troops participation has had stimulating effects.

Military men say that the Teuton directors of this new offensive undoubtedly are striving to cause diversion from the west front. Italy, however, has sufficient man-power, it is so that more troops are not needed now.

British airmen have destroyed seven bridges.

The British apparently occupy more of the plateau region, while French are in the Mount Grappa region to the eastward.

"The enemy used 29 divisions (348,000 men) between the Asiago plateau and the Piave of the 58 divisions (696,000 men) employed on the whole battle front.

London, June 17.—The long heralded, Austria offensive, launched on the Italian front early Saturday, was still under way when the latest of the statements were issued:

The drive, which followed an intense bombardment between the Lagarina valley and the Adriatic seas, a distance of about 100 miles, was begun on the seventy-mile front between Asiago Chateau and the sea. The line extends eastward from the plateau to the Piave river, in the vicinity of Segusino, then follows the river southward to its mouth.

The Austrians succeeded in forcing a crossing of the Piave at Nervesa, fifteen miles southeast of Segusino and ten miles north of Treviso and at Fagare and Musile, respectively ten and twenty miles from the sea.

On their right, the French and Italians blocked the enemy eastward to the Piave.

In the Toul sector, the French war office reported that a German force which succeeded in obtaining a foothold in Xivry yesterday morning was later ejected. Xivry is ten miles east of St. Mihiel, two miles west of Seichprey and is held by American troops.

Both the British and German forces announced last night that there was nothing new to report.

NEW TYPE OF U-BOAT PATROL VESSELS TO BE CONSTRUCTED

Washington, June 17.—Submarine patrol vessels resembling a cross between a Fords Eagle Boat and destroyer will be built to meet the coastal U-boat raid danger if plans now being urged in the navy department materialize.

Other types he suggested are 120 foot wooden boats with a system of propulsion cheaper than that of the submarine chasers, and a 200 foot boat that would develop speed without extreme cost. Both these types could be produced quickly and cheaply.

Stoking of two Norwegian ships, the Samoa and Kringsja, at about the same distance off the Virginia capes in the closing days of last week has served to emphasize the need for more craft. Henry Ford has been asked to speed up his Eagle boats and has promised to do so.

FEAR "WIRE DISEASE"

London, June 17.—During the negotiations between Turkey and the British Foreign Office for the exchange of prisoners of war, Turkey sent a demand that all barbed-wire fences be removed from the camps where Turks were being held. The Turk Foreign Minister had been told of "wire disease" among prisoners and wanted them spared from further infection.

The enemy representatives were willing to agree to smooth wire barricades because the new disease seemed to come only from barbed wire.

The point held up negotiations momentarily while the British convinced the Turks that "wire disease" is a slang term meaning a nervous collapse and not a communicable disease suffered by persons who happened to touch barbed wire.

AUTOMATIC ENGINEERS MEET

Dayton, June 17.—More than 2500 visitors are here for the three-day session of the national convention of the Society of Automatic Engineers, which began today. Charles F. Kettering of Dayton, is national president.

COMMENCEMENT AT KENYON

Gambier, June 17.—Commencement at Kenyon College was held this morning. Fourteen men were given bachelors degrees. Of this number, however, four are already in the nation's service.

The Itching and Sting of Blazing, Fiery Eczema

Seems Like the Skin Is on Fire.

There is a harassing discomfort caused by Eczema that almost becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable, and the skin seems to burn with the burning irritation. A cure from local applications of salves and ointments is impossible, because such treatment can only alleviate the pain temporarily. The disease can only be reached by going deep down to its source.

The source of Eczema is in the blood, the disease being caused by an infection which breaks out through the skin. That is why the most satisfactory treatment for all so-called skin diseases is S. S. S., for this remedy so thoroughly cleanses the blood that no impurities can remain. Get a bottle to day at any drugstore, and you will see results from the right treatment. FORMER BASKETBALL STAR NOW IN ARMY WRITES INTERESTING LETTERS

Here follows two letters from Wilbur Corry, son of Frank Corry of Clifton and Xenia pike, who was not only a basketball star when captain of the Antioch College team but later distinguished himself in the court games at Camp Sherman. Mr. Corry is a graduate of Antioch. The letters follow, the first one being written May 31 and the second one, June 6th, both coming from Camp Mills, N. Y.: "This is the last day of May. We arrived in Camp Mills this morning, we stayed over last night in our coaches in a car-yard at Jersey City. We left Camp Sherman Wednesday at 10 a.m. Our company and Co. H, had one train of our own and the cook car was in the middle. We had our own mess and it was served to us on paper plates so we could ditch them as soon as we had finished our meal."

"I believe that I have been in seven states in the last two days. We went from Chillicothe to Parkersburg, W. Va., where we stopped for a few minutes and were served some sort of a cold drink by some Red Cross ladies. From there we went to Clarksburg, W. Va., and got into Washington, D. C. yesterday morning on Memorial day. As we had a half-hour stop we walked out to the Capitol building and double-timed it back."

"From there we went through Baltimore and Philadelphia and on to Jersey City. This morning we got up early and carried our barrack bags etc., onto a boat, the 'Plainfield.' It was a fine sight for me—could see the Statue of Liberty, Woolworth building, the Brooklyn bridge and all the docks and boats all new to me."

"We got off the boat at Brooklyn, loaded our junk on cars and came out here and from here I can't tell you where or where we go."

"We saw a lot of country and the tunnels we passed through must have been thirty in number, some of them being pretty long. We had Pullman coaches and some of them were pretty fine, although ours happened to be one of the poorest. Some of the coaches had state rooms in them which the Sergeants used but we weren't that fortunate."

"The camp here is so different from Camp Sherman. I have seen only one Y. M. C. A. and it isn't near. We have six sergeants in our tent and it is pretty full."

"Long Island is very level and a pretty place. It looks as if the soil would be very rich. Coming east, it seemed that the villages were so numerous and someone was waving at us all the time. Everybody we would pass would wave and cheer. I guess everyone will get a chance at a 24-hour pass to New York City. We were about twenty miles from there."

The second letter follows:

"It is 9 p. m. and I'll write a letter before I go to sleep. It took your letter just two days to get here. Don't stop writing because you think I may move for the mail will be forwarded, their feet would roll away up above their heads and it was the funniest thing I ever saw. They finally crawled out and seemed to enjoy it for they repeated it several times. Then we rode on everything in general and they were pretty happy. They were funnier than the show."

"While in there I met another fellow I know and I went with him to New York. Went to the Strand theater and it sure was fine. It was just a movie, Marguerite Clark in 'Priscilla.' The music was just great. When we came out it was after 11 p. m. and the streets were crowded, the most people had seen there. That is when the people are out in New York, and I guess it is that way until almost morning."

"When I came back, Mac Henderson, Allison Wright and Alton Dunaway dropped into see me and just now left. Merle Jobe was also over for a little while. They told me that the 321st Infantry regiment has gone into Canada. That's the one that Paul Ferguson is in."

"We had rain this morning and at intervals all through the day and we had a time keeping our tents drained. This morning the ground inside of our tent was covered with water a few inches deep while we were in another tent eating breakfast and some of our equipment became soaked. It is low here and damp and with the black soil it is easy to get everything dirty."

"I saw the great sights in New York city, one of the best being the view from the top of the Woolworth building, sixty stories high. Saw the lift at Coney Island, which is nothing but amusement, not elevating, to say the least."

"I am becoming a regular 'gadabout' for I went on a pass again yesterday and am expecting to go again tomorrow, but may be fooled. I started out with a bunch of Co. F, fellows and landed at Coney Island—it was cold and I didn't go in bathing but part of them did—mainly for the one reason; they would get into a bathing suit, then go to the bar and drink."

"Three of them went with us to the Steeplechase. These three weren't so very much tanked, were not sober by a whole lot. This Steeplechase is a place of amusement where you ride all sorts of slides, etc. At the entrance we had to walk through a revolving cylinder, which would be something like a small silo, lying on its side and revolving as if it were rolling. It wasn't a bit hard for me, but those fellows fell down and

HUGE DIRIGIBLE BALLOON SIGHTED NORTH OF XENIA

A huge dirigible observation balloon which suddenly made its appearance in the sky north of this city Saturday evening about seven o'clock, was witnessed by many Xenians.

The dirigible was on its way from Akron to Dayton, where it gave demonstrations Sunday for the benefit of the convention of the Society of Automatic Engineers which is being held there. Daytonians witnessed the strange air maneuver when the big balloon flew from McCook Field to Wright Field escorted by two airplanes which flew about and around it. One machine led the way first while a French machine flew in circles about the dirigible.

In another flight of the big balloon, machines from McCook field descended as it passed over there and escorted it on a flight over Dayton. The balloon attempted to alight at Moraine City, but failed and landed at Edgemont, not far however, from the plant of the Dayton Wright Airplane factory.

SOLDIER'S MAIL

W. Frank Persons, director of civilian relief of the American Red Cross, just returned from France, says that cheerful letters from home with plenty of snapshot pictures, will check loneliness and low spirits among American soldiers. Owing to the ocean trip, it will not be possible for our soldiers to have furloughs to their home country. England and France can and do grant frequent ten-day home furloughs to their soldiers and they prove a wonderful help to the keeping up of their morale. But there is something else needed besides the frequent and cheerful home letters. There must be an efficient mail service. There should be a rapid determination of the causes of delayed mail service in France and the causes removed. If there is a lack of army and postoffice co-operation, put the mail service under army control and make the army command responsible. The essential thing is to get the mail to the soldiers.

A DISAPPOINTING DECISION.

The Supreme Court of the United States has just decided that the Child Labor Law of 1916 is null and void, as being contrary to the constitution. The law prohibited the sale of goods made by child labor. Five Justices signed the decision, including Chief Justice White, and four took the other side. The Supreme Court is not infallible; it consists of nine human beings, who have their own preconceived views and convictions, which often no amount of logic or evidence can change.

The decision of the court will come as a profound disappointment to a public opinion that had expected the court in this case, as in so many others, to give the benefit of the doubt to the side of national and child welfare.

In the child labor case the minority view, expressed by Justices Holmes, McKenna, Brandeis and Clarke, is the view of enlightened liberalism.

Certainly the regulation of child labor cannot be left to the States. Such a let alone policy results in subjecting the decent States to unfair competition from other States, and it permits the backward states to mistreat children.

There must be regulation of child labor. If it cannot be obtained in one way, it must be obtained in another.

Two democrats, including the Chief Justice, and three republicans, voted to declare the law unconstitutional, while two republicans and two democrats voted the other way. The Supreme court is still republican by a majority of one vote, for so far as that goes, but here we find both parties divided, and three republicans joining with two democrats to uphold States Rights, that cardinal democratic principle.

In our country the guiding principle is that the majority rules, and though it does not follow that the majority is always right, the only safe thing to do in a republic is to let the majority will prevail. If the minority principle is the right one, we may be confident that it will eventually prevail.

It was that beloved story writer, Charles Dickens, who uttered this noble sentiment: "It always grieves me to contemplate the initiation of children into the ways of life when they are scarcely more than infants. It checks their confidence and simplicity, two of the best qualities that heaven gives them, and demands that they share our sorrows before they are capable of entering into our enjoyments."

The first duty to children is to make them happy. If you have not made them so you have wronged them. No other good they may get can make up for that.

CUT DOWN ON BEEF.

A sharp reminder of the necessity of conserving food in an increasing degree is furnished by the new rules of the Food Administration to restrict the use of beef. Hotels and restaurants are asked not to serve roast beef or beefsteak more than once weekly and boiled beef more than twice weekly; and householders are asked not to buy more than one pound and a quarter for each person. Compliance with this request will involve no little self-denial on the part of those who are great eaters of beef. Yet no real hardship is involved, and there should be no hesitation on the part of any one to follow the instructions of the Food Administration. The hotels and restaurants will do this; the license system secures that. But hitherto the obligation of the householders has been wholly one of honor. That many have kept it is true; but too many have disregarded it. The time is obviously approaching when, if results cannot be obtained without it, some method of rationing will have to be adopted. Bread cards and meat cards have been found essential in other countries at war. It will be surprising if they are not soon found essential here.

Wrong Action Mitigated.

Laddie had been taught that when visiting he must never ask for anything to eat. One afternoon he was invited by a neighbor to visit her. He went alone, and on his return home his mother asked him if he had enjoyed the afternoon and said she hoped he had not asked for cookies. He replied: "Yes, I did, mamma, but I was very polite."

KEEP CAMPS FULL.

It is the aim of every industrial plant to keep it at a state of maximum efficiency. The army camps are the plants where soldiers are made. As fast as trained soldiers leave the camps their places should be filled by recruits. There should never be a day in the year when there is an empty cot or an idle rifle in the camps. If, at any time, a camp capable of training 40,000 men, has its membership drop down to a few thousand, it will be evidence of a lack of efficiency.

The emergencies of the war are now so great that the army camp plants must be at all times one hundred percent effective.

TWIN BEDS

Dr. Ella Lane-Eustis, of Chicago, said at the convention of the General Confederation of Women's Clubs at Hot Springs:

"This war slaughter is going to make large families a necessity. People after the war will desire large families as ardently as they used to shun them. We'll all be Roosevelts, and the young bride's horror will be unintelligible to us."

Dr. Ella Lane-Eustis smiled. "A young bride," she went on, "set out with her husband to buy the furniture for their future home."

"Now, as to our bedroom," said the husband, "I suggest twin beds for our bedroom. What do you think?"

"The bride blushed. "Oh, Jim," she said, in low, horrified tones, "do you think we're going to have twins?"

IS LIGHTEST WOOD.

Sitka spruce which takes from 70 to 80 years to mature, is light, compact, nearly odorless, light yellow and has scarcely distinguishable sap-wood. It has long been used for ship-building, rafts, spars and by musical instrument makers for sounding boards.

Douglas fir or spruce, great forests of which are found on the coast is also a favorite wood, but is somewhat heavier than the Sitka spruce.

WAR SECRETARY PAYS A SHORT VISIT TO XENIA

"I am very well satisfied with the progress in aviation work being made in Dayton and elsewhere in the country," said Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, in an interview at the Pennsylvania station in this city just before he boarded a train for Columbus Sunday afternoon.

"I shall be pleased to be quoted as saying that everyone who is aiding in the aircraft production work in this country is entitled to great credit for their patriotic zeal. I place great confidence in the ability and loyalty of the men who are at the head of our great airplane factories to produce planes in the quantities that are desired."

The stamp of approval of the Secretary of War was placed on the aviation production question following a flying visit to Dayton and the airplane factories there Sunday. Accompanied by Chief of Staff, General Peyton C. March and General W. L. Kenly, in charge of military aviation in America, Mr. Baker was taken to the flying fields and the airplane factories of Dayton by Col. E. A. Deeds and C. F. Kettering. The military party was then driven to this city by automobile and boarded the 3:15 train here for Columbus. Mr. Baker was not recognized by most people on the platform although he was identified by a reporter. The officers in company with the Secretary attracted considerable attention, especially General March, who wears the four silver stars of the General, of which there are only three. Other officers with the party were Colonel Deeds, a lieutenant colonel, a major and a naval officer.

Secretary Baker said that he went to Dayton to look into the grounds drainage question at Wilbur Wright Field. Because of inadequate drainage, flying operations there have been greatly handicapped. General Kenly will remain in Dayton to go further into this question staying over Monday and possibly Tuesday.

When asked if he would confirm the report that Wilbur Wright Field was to be abandoned as an aviation training field and converted into an infantry cantonment, Mr. Baker said:

"I can assure positively that it will not be used for the infantry." He asked to be excused from discussing the future of the field further.

The Secretary and his party visited the Wright Airplane factory and watched the tests there of the Liberty Motor, which it was said were highly satisfactory. They then witnessed some spectacular flying at the south field nearby, and then went to McCook's Field where they witnessed other flying. From there they went to Wright Field. The party came direct.

It is understood that Secretary Baker was very well pleased with airplane production in Dayton, and he is said to have expressed himself as such at the Dayton Wright Airplane factory. Last week this factory shipped between 80 and 90 completed and tested battleplanes and beginning this week will turn out between 20 to 30 now said to be the only city in the United States turning out battleplanes in quantity.

The acquisition of new ground for the purpose of increasing the size of McCook Field, was heartily endorsed by the Secretary and it is believed that a part of the Wright base park will be utilized for that purpose.

Besides witnessing the airplane flights in Dayton, of especial interest of which was the flying in battle formation, the Secretary also saw an ascension of the war dirigible observation balloon which flew to Dayton from Akron Saturday evening.

WILBUR LABRON HOME FOR VISIT

Wilbur Labron, who is now a pharmacist's mate in the navy, and a member of the staff of the hospital ship, Mercy, is spending a few days' leave in this city, with his mother, Mrs. W. A. Labron.

Mr. Labron enlisted while in the northwest a year ago. He was one of a number of men selected to take an abbreviated course in medicine and surgery at the University of Minnesota, and he spent several months there.

After completing the course, he was assigned to the Mercy, and placed in charge of the medical ward.

While neither the Comfort or the Mercy, the two hospital ships in the U. S. navy have yet seen active service, the staffs of both are chafing to go across and there is considerable rivalry regarding the one which will first get the orders to go.

MAN BURNS TO DEATH.

Bowling Green, Ohio, June 17.—David Barton, 69, of Custard, was burned to death yesterday in the barn of A. C. Vedder, three miles northwest of Weston. Barton rushed into the barn to rescue stock when the building was discovered afire. Only a few bones and a suspender buckle were found where Barton had fallen.

ADVOCATE UNION OF SEMINARIES

At a meeting of the United Presbyterian General Assembly, at Pittsburgh, two or three weeks ago, the question of the Union of the Pittsburgh and Xenia Theological seminaries was before the assembly and was ably discussed pro and con by the members present. Dr. Joseph Kyle, president of the faculty of Xenia Theological Seminary opposed the proposition, while Dr. D. A. McClenahan, of the faculty of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, heartily approved it.

D. W. Barr opposed the union and thought we needed to increase the number of seminaries rather than decrease them. He advocated the opening of a new seminary on the Pacific coast.

Dr. J. P. Cowan thought that the question of church union was involved in the proposition and suggested that we should wait until after the war before considering union of the seminaries. He stated that he had consulted a prominent attorney with reference to Xenia's endowment and that in his opinion this institution could not lose its identity without jeopardizing its property.

When the vote was taken on the resolution a division was called for. The votes as recorded was ninety-four yeas and seventy-five nays.

As the General Assembly does not have jurisdiction over the seminaries action was only in the nature of recommendation to the synods and governing boards controlling the two institutions. Each seminary is under the control of several synods.

There is not much probability of Xenia losing its theological seminary.

XENIA GIRL IS AMONG GRADUATES

One postgraduate medallion, 15 diplomas and fifty-nine certificates will be awarded students of this year's class at the College of Music of Cincinnati, next Wednesday morning, at 10 o'clock.

Miss Cornelia Madge McKeever, Xenia, Ohio, will receive a certificate as teacher of public school music.

Martin G. Dumler, former student, and present member of the College Board of Trustees, will deliver the Commencement address.

UNCLE SAM BECOMES MENTOR OF FASHIONS

Washington, June 7.—Uncle Sam now acting as a member of fashions, has decreed that ladies' shoes shall be worn no higher than eight inches next spring. In addition the dainty feminine foot wear is limited to four colors. Conservation of leather is the reason.

At the same time a healthy wallop is taken at men's clothing with the result that fastidious dresses must be content next Easter with bob-tailed coats "only" three outside pockets and no cuff.

THEATERS

BIJOU.

A picture that will stir the patriotism of every good American has been produced by William Fox with Virginia Pearson in the leading role. The picture shows this charming star amid shot and shell on the battlefield and is aptly entitled "A Daughter of France." In the supporting cast besides Miss Pearson is Hugh Thompson, Herbert Evans, George Moss, Ethel Kauffman and others.

OPHIUM.

That frivolous and capricious little film star, Miss Eva Tanguay, has the leading role in the Select Pictures offering, "The Wild Girl," which comes to the Orpheum Theater, Tuesday night.

This is a story of action and interest, in which this little star romps through five reels of celluloid for the edification of the masses. The picture is the best that has been on the program at the Orpheum for some time.

NEW YORK PLANS GIGANTIC PARADE

New York, June 17.—One hundred and twenty-five thousand persons will march in the city's greatest parade on July 4. Thirty-five groups, representing almost every nationality in the city, will be in line. Two hundred of the floats depicting historical incidents, and other floats showing the work of the war and navy departments and the shipping and war industries boards will be among the features.

MINISTERS, ATTENTION.
All ministers in the county are requested to call the attention of their congregations, on Sunday, June 23rd, to the immediate necessity for the sale of War Savings Stamps. This matter is most urgent.

COURT NEWS

By the will of John Walsh late of Bath township probated Friday, one third of his $13,000 estate is bequeathed to his widow, Harriet Ann Welsh, and the two thirds to his son, Henry Albert. The widow and son are named as executors. The will was executed June 2, three days before Mr. Walsh's death.

His death occurred two days after the local common pleas jury rendered a verdict setting a value on farms of himself and his wife in Bath township in condemnation proceedings brought by the Miami Conservancy.

The will of Johnson Weakley, late of Yellow Springs, was probated Friday. He leaves his personal property to Samuel Wilson Weakley and Martha Weakley. The estate is valued at $2,000. Samuel Weakley is named executor.

AIRMEN TRIM THE RESERVES BY THE SCORE OF 1 TO 3

Although he pitched a brilliant exhibition of baseball, Big Curt Free did not have the hits behind him and lost a heart-rendering ball game at Reserve park Sunday afternoon, the 807th Aero Squadron from McCook's Field winning from the Reserves 1-0.

The big hurler tossed the game of his life and although he was attacked with vicious determination by the bird-men they could not connect safely with his offerings but four times. Two of these hits, however, were registered in the third inning and paved the way for the only score of the game.

Flowers on Mountain Tops.

It is known that upon many of the summits of the high mountain ridges in the Hawaiian Islands, in the regions of heavy rainfall, are open bogs which support a peculiar and interesting flora. Many species form more or less hemispherical tussocks which rise above the general level of the bog. A showy lobelia with numerous large cream-colored flowers as much as three and a half inches long, peculiar violets and a sundew are found there.

WONDERFUL GRIT SHOWN BY THE AMERICAN SOLDIERS UNDER FIRE

BY REV. HENRY F. SMITH,
ATTACHED TO Y. M. C. A.

As I am in Paris, en route from the temporary field which I occupied a bit over three weeks to the rest camp where the troops to whom I am attached have already started for a longer period, I want to write something about these last few days. I cannot give the whole story, for we are at war with a desperate and powerful and resourceful enemy, and we must not let them know any more than they already know through their elaborate spy system. But I think I can safely write some things that will be of interest, and no military value to our foes. Things I have been doing in connection with the movements of the allied armies.

Some time ago, it was decided that when the division with which I have been working was transferred, I should go with them. So this entire week has been of unusual activity and strain. It was not long before our foes discovered that some such thing as this was afoot, and began taking the steps which they deemed necessary to obstruct our movements. All known points of entraining, and many cross-roads and main roads, were subjected to continuous bombardment.

To transfer thousands of men, horses, wagons, and supplies under such conditions was no little job, and the Y. M. C. A. felt that it had a duty to render whatever assistance it could. The secretaries, therefore, were sent to various point of entrainment to serve hot coffee and fried apples to the men as they boarded their trains. Some of them worked continuously for two or three days, with scarcely any sleep, and not too much in the way of nourishment. Here, for example, was my program:

Friday morning, after an exciting ride from the very firing lines the night before, and a late returning to bed under conditions that sent hundreds in the town to their cellars for the night, I went to the Y. M. C. A. warehouse, turned in my account of sales and stock on hand (8,000 francs worth) and then pitched in to help with the transfer of goods from the ware-house to the freight cars. It was heavy and rough work, but I enjoyed it thoroughly, as I did the lunch of boiled eggs and bread and jam which four of us hastily prepared in the yard, under a shed. The afternoon was occupied in the same way, with intervals of serving behind an improvised counter which was liberally patronized by the soldiers who were in town.

The Spoil Coffee

After a half hour of rest before dinner at the Croix D'Or, I felt ready for the night's work, which was this,—to drive about five or six miles down the railroad to one of the entraining points, and take charge of the coffee serving. I had two men with me, one of whom had been up the night before and intended to sleep in the car, and there was another man already on the ground who also had been up thirty-six hours already, but who proved to be the only one equal to the strain of another night. Disposing of our goods as quickly as possible where we could hand them to the men as they passed, we started in to serve the coffee. But we had hardly begun when the familiar hum of "Boche" machines in the starry sky above us sent the major hurrying to our shack to command the fire out at once. There being no water handy, splash went the coffee, and the deed was done. Then for an hour, we were kept busy telling men who strolled up that there was "Nothing doing," and the major did not want men to gather in groups. They must keep scattered.

IT WAS GREAT FUN

But at last, about 9 o'clock, we were allowed to rebuild the fire. I wish you could have seen what followed! For me, it meant tending the fire, smashing boxes for fuel, pouring (or ladling) coffee for about 10,000 (?) men, repairing the supply, going after water, or any thing that needed to be done, meanwhile talking, singing, joking or whatever would best keep the men in good humor. Not that I had to try to do these latter things. Everybody was in good spirits the station. But by dint of some quick work at the last minute, all but 4 of us managed to get abroad, and dropped into our seats for the first wink of sleep in from thirty-six to forty-eight hours. Those four chased the train in a motor truck from one station to another, just missing it by inches each time, until they had covered so large a fraction of the distance that it seemed best to come on all the way, which they did, arriving here at 11:30 P.M., with two others, came to the "Pavillion," a fine hotel which has been taken over by the Y. M. C. A. and is being splendidly run for the benefit of our boys on furlough. I was fortunate enough to secure a room, and when at 11:15 I dropped into a feather bed between real sheets, it would have taken the largest esquadrille of German airplanes that ever sailed the skies, or a dozen 75-mile guns, to prevent me from sleeping the sleep of the happy-hearted.

They Sung and Spun Yarns

For a while, they sang and spun yarns, but at last they were too sleepy and tired to do either, and the last two hours were just endured and lived through by pure grit. How much that hot coffee, (and it was hot, if nothing else) served to keep up the spirits of the men through that trying night, no one can tell. But the gratitude of the men was expressed in many ways, in acts of helpfulness rather than in words, and was genuine and deep. The officers and chaplains, several of whom came for hot drinks and stood around the fire, were particularly strong in their appreciation of what this meant to their men; and when the morning came at last, and we had finished our breakfast with the men, who insisted that we must share their mess we returned to the city and to our work in the warehouse, buoyed with the sense of having had a share in one of the biggest jobs of our lives.

(Four Left Behind)

The next day, Saturday, was largely a repetition of Friday, only the boxes we tackled did not yield so quickly to our touch, and we had to stop more frequently to rest. Had not the train to Paris been late, we should not have been able to get all the packing done, and our trunks and bags all carted to PURINA PIG CHOW covers the three big factors in successful pig raising and hog feeding.

YOUR COUNTRY IS CALLING FOR MORE HOGS AND GREATER GAINS.

YOU CAN SECURE THEM WITH PURINA PIG CHOW.

By combining the best and best known ingredients for pigs and hogs, it has been possible to work out a balance in PURINA PIG CHOW, that when used with other feeds, pork can be produced at less cost per pound, and in less time than heretofore thought possible.

PURINA PIG CHOW runs high in ash, lime and phosphates—the bone-building elements that are largely lacking in other feeds (bones are 90 per cent lime and phosphates). It is a natural laxative, properly regulating the system.

PURINA PIG CHOW increases the appetite and stimulates digestive action. When fed with corn, it materially increases the value of the corn. A similar result is noticed with shorts, etc.

PURINA PIG CHOW develops the greatest possible milk flow to the sow, which, of course, means to a great extent the elimination of runts in the litter, and rapid growth.

EAST END NEWS

The X. X. C. C. will meet with Mrs. Onella Cosby this evening, at 7:30 o'clock. L. J. Payne, president; B. H. Bishop, secretary.

Bishop B. H. Hurd, of Philadelphia, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cosby. Bishop Hurd is over the Mississippi and Louisiana diocese, also a trustee of Wilberforce University.

The manufacture of shells has required quantities of iron and steel which no one could have had an idea before. . . . If the production of pig iron and steel had not been doubled, since the month of August, the continuation of the war would have been impossible.

As raw material for the manufacture of these quantities of pig iron and steel, "the minette (Lorraine ore) takes a place of greater and greater importance, because this ore can be extracted in our country in rapidly augmenting quantities. The "minette" covers at this moment 60 to 80 per cent of the manufacture of pig iron and steel. If the production of "minette" had been disturbed, the war would have been as good as lost.

The report goes on to say that if French troops had been able to advance five to ten miles into Lorraine, or had held the frontier, the war must have ended from Germany's lack of iron. Verdun is referred to as the bridge-head of the iron region, and it is concluded:

The security of the German Empire in a future war necessitates therefore imperatively the possession of all the mines of the "minette," and comprises the fortresses of Longwy and Verdun, without which this region cannot be defended.

M. Pichon, the former French Minister of Foreign Affairs, has recently asserted, and ex-Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg has confirmed his statement, that Baron von Schoen, the German ambassador at Paris, had received instructions to demand of France, in case she should agree to remain neutral, that she hand over to Germany for the period of the war the fortresses of Verdun and Toul.

The reader is asked to observe by reference to the map that Toul is the "bridge-head" to an outlying area of "minette" near Nancy in the same sense that Verdun is to the main area of Lorraine. Can there be any one so blind as not to perceive what acquiescence in this audacious demand would have involved?

France would have been left at the mercy of Germany and would have been ruthlessly invaded by the German armies returning flushed with an easy victory over Russia. Fortunately for us all, the German ambassador was informed that France would not agree to remain neutral, but would be guided in her action by her own interests.

In the "minette" iron district is thus to be found the Achilles heel of the German monster.

Once driven from this area, Germany will be forced to an unconditional surrender, as she has herself admitted.

Utilization of the iron ores of Ukraine will not be possible upon a scale commensurate with Germany's needs without several years of development, and the question of transportation across the 1,200 miles which separates the district from the industrial section of Westphalia and Rhenish Prussia would have to be solved.

Should the attempt be made to bring ore in sufficient quantities from the already developed but equally distant Kiruna mines of Swedish Lapland, means would have to be found by the allies, as they have before, to interrupt the Baltic traffic.

A knowledge of these facts should be sufficient to meet the specious argument which will soon be put forward in the interests of a "German peace," that a decision in favor of the allies is outside the realm of possibility.

With the German, French and Luxembourg fields of ore now firmly in her grasp, the armies were launched upon Belgium, and the Kaiser speaking to an immense throng from the balcony of the royal palace in Berlin, declared that envious enemies had forced the sword into his hand, and puppet-like ninety-three of the most distinguished professors in Germany put their signatures to a statement that Germany had neither begun the war nor violated international law.

There is both interest and much encouragement in turning from these lying statements addressed to "the civilized world" to the unquestionably truthful confidential statement ad-

GEORGE ASHBAUGH SUCCUMBS AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Relief from many months of suffering, came to George D. Ashbaugh, when he passed away at 2:10 o'clock, Monday morning at the home of his mother-in-law Mrs. Julia Whalen, 223 Cincinnati avenue.

In failing health for several years, Mr. Ashbaugh was obliged to give up his position with the Adams Express company in Columbus, a year ago last April, and with his family came to this city. Since last September he had been confined to bed, a sufferer from pernicious anaemia.

Mr. Ashbaugh was born in Pike County, and passed the thirty-fourth anniversary of his birth last October 16. Twenty years ago his family moved to Cedarville, where his mother died fifteen years ago. A short time later they came to Xenia to make their home. For 14 years Mr. Ashbaugh was employed by the Adams Express Company, entering the employ of the company in this city, where he was the agent at the Pennsylvania station before being transferred to Dayton and later to Columbus.

He held a responsible position for the company in Columbus, where he was connected with the superintendent's office. Held in high esteem by his employers, every consideration and kindness was extended to him by them, when his health failed, and his position was retained for him until he became so ill that he was obliged to retire.

Mr. Ashbaugh married Miss Anna Whalen in this city, and she survives him with their two little daughters, Julia Alice and Mary.

He leaves his father, James Ashbaugh of this city, and a sister and brother, Mrs. John Parks of West Carrollton and Ernest C. Ashbaugh of Springfield.

Mr. Ashbaugh was a member of the Catholic church and funeral service will be held at 8:30 Wednesday at St Brigid's church.

PAUL BISHOP HURT WHEN AUTO TURNS TURTLE WITH HIM

Paul Bishop, former Xenian, who is employed in Marion, is suffering from numerous minor injuries received when an automobile in which he was riding turned turtle while enroute from Delaware to Marion last Thursday night.

There were four people in the car when the accident occurred as a result of the driver losing control. Mr. Bishop was the only one of the party severely hurt. He received a broken collar bone, his shoulder was dislocated, and the ligaments of his back torn.

Aid was given the party, and they were taken to the home of Mrs. Alice Colvin Bryant in Delaware. The following day Mr. Bishop was taken to Marion where he is at the home of Dr. McAfee. He expects to be able to come to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Bishop in this city, about the middle of the week. Mr. Bishop is employed by the W. T. Jones real estate dealers in Marion.

WHILE SWIMMING STRIKES HEAD ON ROCK; DEATH RESULTS

As a result of striking his head on a rock, while swimming in Massie's Creek, a week ago last Thursday, Thomas H. Jackson Jr., son of Dr. T. H. Jackson of Paine Theological Seminary, died at the Tawawa Hospital, at Wilberforce, at 7:25 o'clock, Sunday night.

The unfortunate young man had gone swimming in the creek back of the University, and sustained the injury which resulted in his death when he dived about ten feet into the water. He struck his head on a rock when he dove and was paralyzed from the third vertebra down. He had been confined in the hospital ever since the accident.

Mr. Jackson was born in Little Rock, Arkansas, September 28, 1901, and thus would have been seventeen years of age next September. He graduated from the Academic Department of Wilberforce University last Wednesday and unable to be with his class, he was given his diploma by President W. S. Scarborough Saturday.

The young man is survived by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Jackson, Sr., and one sister, Miss Geraldine Edith Jackson.

Funeral services will be held some time Tuesday.

GERMAN WAR MACHINE BREAKS DOWN IN MIDST OF BIG DRIVE

New York, June 17.—General Foch has solved the new problems of defense created by Von Hindenburg's bloody strategy of fruitless attacks. The channel ports have been saved at Compiegne. Hindenburg revealed all his tricks in the Compiegne and could not advance. Gen. Foch is prepared along the Picardy and Flanders fronts as between Montdidier and Noyon. And Calais and Boulogne are now as secure behind the one line as Compiegne is proving itself to be behind the rear.

The effort to reach Compiegne contained all the essential military problems that must be involved in any new offensive having the channel ports as its objective. Gen. Foch now knows the worst Hindenburg can do when the element of surprise has limited a German attack. A slight gain in territory at terrible cost to the Germans is the best Hindenburg can hope for under the conditions.

The essential difference between the German offensive between the Marne and the drive for Compiegne is that

CALL TO ARMS IS SOUNDED BY GOVERNOR COX

Requesting all the people of Ohio to respond to President Wilson's "call to arms" for the civilian population, Governor James M. Cox has designated the week of June 24 to 28 as Ohio War Savings Pledge Week. Similar observation will be made throughout the country.

Governor Cox's proclamation follows:

Whereas, the President of the United States has appealed to every man woman and child to pledge himself on or before the 28th of June to save constantly and to buy as regularly as possible United States Government War Saving Stamps, so that more man power and material may be available to the support of the army and navy of the United States at this critical time, and

Whereas, the War Savings Committee of the State of Ohio, pursuant to the urgent requirements of the Treasury of the United States, has made preparations to provide the opportunity for every man, woman and child to pledge himself to purchase these securities of the Government in the week of June 24 to 28, inclusive, the same to be registered on National War Savings Day, June 28.

Now, therefore, I, James M. Cox, as Governor of Ohio, do hereby set aside the week of June 24 through the 28th 1918, as a time when all citizens shall respond to the call of the President and not only pledge themselves to economize and purchase war savings stamps, but also to devote a portion of their time toward assisting in a canvass to the end that the President's request "May there be none enlisted on that day, be fulfilled in Ohio."

With Time to Spare.

It is the people with the most to do who can always spare time to help others. The girl who is absorbed in having a good time and looking out for Number One, feels aggrieved if to these weighty duties is added a trifling responsibility for others, while her busy overburdened neighbor with a score of claims upon her time and strength, can always find time to help somewhere. If you are one of the people who never have time to do a kindness, you may be sure it is because you have not enough to do.

ARTHUR DURAY IS ONE OF STARTERS

Arthur Duray, the peer of all European race drivers, will be the attraction in the Liberty Handicap at the Cincinnati speedway on July 4th.

After three and a half years in the trenches and as chauffeur for President Poincaré of France, the "Blue Devil" will make his first appearance here under the colors of Harry S. Duray, the millionaire sportsman.

Duray will be one of the contestants in the $30,000 classic which will be a feature of the day's card. He will be seen at the wheel of the fast Frontenac, with which Louis Chevrolet defeated a classy field here last year.

Chevrolet, as a scratch man, will be forced to concede a slight handicap to the Frenchman, and it is likely that Duray will go to the post a heavy favorite.

With a field of twenty-two starters guaranteed, and Chevrolet and Duray added to the finest class that has ever competed here, the indications are that there will be one of the biggest crowds ever seen at the speedway. Popular prices, $1 to $3, will prevail. Automobile parties will be admitted into the infield free.

PRAY FOR VICTORY.

Ontario, Cal., June 17.—There's another way to help win the war and swat the kaiser. Ontario is conducting a prayer drive for victory. The fire bell rings at noon each day, to remind all the people of the town to stop whatever work they may be doing and with bowed head to pray for victory or for the safe return of the boys they have sent over seas. This municipal angelus was instituted by proclamation of the mayor at the request of the town council.

Wax From Palm Leaves.

A wax used for candles in Colombia is yet unknown to the outside world, as it has never been exported. It is obtained from the leaves of the wax palm of the Andes, which is reported to be very abundant, in western tropical South America, but occurs nowhere else. A sample of the powdered wax lately examined at the Imperial Institute, London, was of a pale straw color, with a small admixture of vegetable matter. When purified, it was found to resemble other American waxes. It has a melting point as high as 93 degrees C, while that of carnauba wax from Brazil is 84 degrees, and that of candelilla wax from Mexico is only about 70 degrees.

AUTOS DAMAGED BY COLLISION

The Ford delivery car of the Abe Hyman fruit store, driven by Mr. Hyman himself, was damaged but its occupants fortunately unharmed, when the machine was struck by a touring car driven by a Mr. Linkhart of Port William, at Main and King streets.

The Hyman machine was occupied by Mr. Hyman and his two children, Mildred and Ervin, neither of whom were injured. Mr. Hyman was driving south on King street and the Linkhart machine was going west on Main street when the accident happened.

The touring car struck the Hyman machine in the rear, smashing a fender. The other car was not badly damaged.

Courtesy.

Courtesy is one of the properties of God, who gives his sun and rain to the just and the unjust by courtesy; and courtesy is the sister of charity, by which hatred is extinguished and love is cherished.—St. Francis of Assisi.

Annie Laurie's Letters

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of 16 years, and have two questions to ask you. The first is: I am wildly in love with a fine young man of 17. He has asked me to marry him, but my parents object. I do not feel as I could ever love any other one or ever have another happy moment without him.

Please advise me whether I had better elope with him or give up my happiness forever.

A VERY DISTRESSED GIRL.

A VERY DISTRESSED GIRL: Your first question I ruled out, not because of lack of interest, but because it belongs in another department than mine. This comes under the head of "Health" rather than love, you see.

Now, I want to stop you when you say you are "wildly in love." A girl of 15 is seldom really in love. She rarely even thinks she is. You'll "love" many others before you're an old lady, and you'll see many happy moments. Stop letting this make you unhappy and spoil the best years of your life. Only cowards ever elope. The man who urges a girl to elope isn't the sort of man she ought to trust with her future. If he isn't brave enough to wait for you then let him go right away.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper, and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her, care this office.

Uncle Eben.

"De man dat talks too much," said Uncle Eben, "an' de man dat don't talk at all both keeps you guessin' on what dey's thinkin' about."

Everyday Etiquette

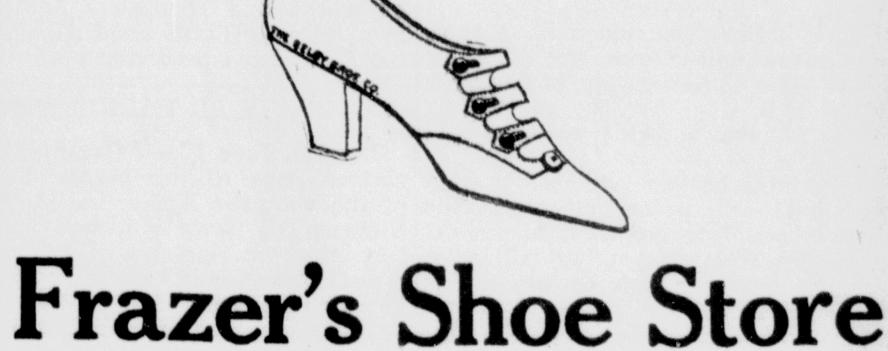

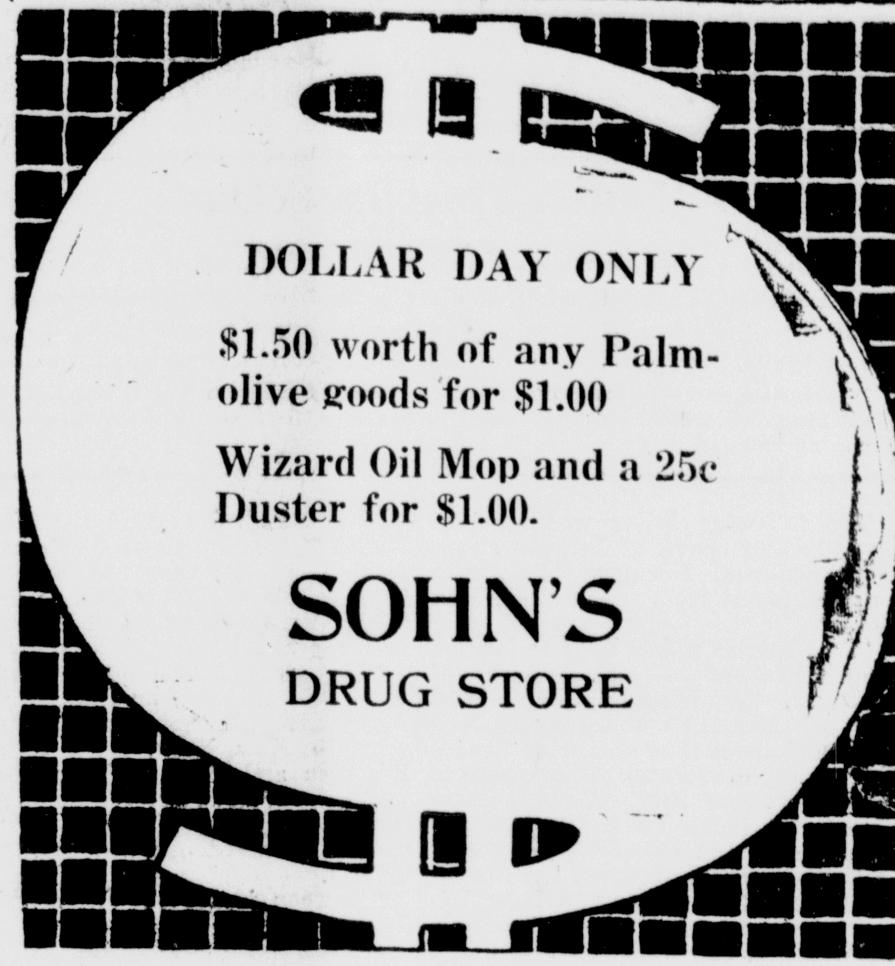

"Will you explain how the groom should dress at an informal wedding ceremony?" asked Ned.

"If the groom does not care to wear the conventional outfit for a morning or evening wedding, he may wear a black business suit. With the suit should be worn a single or double breasted vest of same material as the suit, or of fancy vesting, a four-in-hand tie, tan or moccasin gloves, a derby hat and calfskin shoes," said his brother.

MOTORADS

Automobile fires which originate within the car itself are most commonly caused by back fires or pop backs into the carburetor or by accidental electric sparks or arcs. They are fed by split gasoline and by oil and grease which has collected on the car parts, and the fire then spreads to the car body, the electric wiring, the upholstery and all the combustible parts.

Back fires can be prevented by applying an excess of gasoline while the engine is cold, so that the mixture may not be so lean as to burn slowly enough to be capable of firing an entering charge. A fine wire gauze cone set into the intake pipe at the carburetor flange is said to prevent fire from reaching the carburetor.

Stray electric flashes can be prevented by seeing that the terminals do not become loose or detached, or that short circuits do not occur from the wearing away of insulation or similar causes. Most cars are now so well wired that short circuits rarely occur.

Never take a chance, is the way one expert sums up advice to motorists who wish to class themselves as safe drivers. One of the safest rules in driving is never to pass behind a woman. You never know what a woman will do, says this expert. She will hear the car, or you will blow your horn just behind her, and she will get frightened or jump or do something, and nearly always gets in the way of the car. Always pass in front of them, or wait for them to pass.

Women with children are, perhaps, the least worry to a driver. The woman knows that she has to look out for cars and they will give a driver all the room he needs. All you have to do is to give them a chance, and they will keep out of the way. Sometimes a child will break away from its mother and attempt to run across your route, but if you are taking your time, the little fellow usually gets across all right.

Your battery may soon have summer fever unless you are battery wise. This is the season of the year when it is wise for the motor car owner to overhaul his storage battery.

All winter he has run his car with no battery protection and the chances are 7 to one that a general inspection and overhauling will save him the cost of a new battery a few months from now.

Have a service station look over the battery now and often. They are glad to be of service to you and without cost. Let them charge your battery if it has run down and let them keep it charged. Don't forget your battery and be sure and don't forget to add water to offset evaporation.

If you prefer to do the testing yourself, purchase a hydrometer

FOOD NOTES

Supplied by Greene County Food Commission

TO PUBLIC EATING PLACES

The following order to public eating houses has just been issued, by the Food Committee:

"In view of the serious shipping conditions necessarily effecting our sugar supply and the importance of insuring an adequate supply for home canning and preserving, EFFECTIVE AT ONCE, you will eliminate the indiscriminate use of sugar and serve sugar only upon request and then in individual portions."

New sugar rules issued by the food administration limit the sale of sugar except for canning purposes to not more than two pounds to any one time to city customers and not more than five pounds to rural or farm customers. The new rule are effective at once.

In a statement today Fred C. Croxton, federal food administrator for Ohio, asks all households to supply their needs for canning purposes but to use sugar sparingly for all other purposes.

By signing certificates, households may secure as much as 100 pounds for canning purposes but all certificates calling for more than this amount must be submitted to county food administration committees for approval.

Ohio dealers it is claimed now have a good supply on hand but the warning comes from Washington that a situation has developed the past few days which calls for great conservation of sugar.

READ THIS, KAISER BILL!

Fargo, N. D., June 17.—North Dakota will produce 175,000,000 bushels of wheat and 28,000,000 bushels of rye this year State Food Administrator E. F. Ladd predicts.

BRAVE BO YARRESTED.

London, June 17.—After fighting in sixteen days of the bloodiest battle of the war, the Kaiser battle, Albert Stevens, 15 years old, was arrested for impersonating his older brother, a deserter. The lad's big brother was home on leave when he decided not to be a soldier any more and the little fellow jumped at the chance of taking his place. Wearing his brother's uniform he went back to his brother's unit at the end of the latter's leave arriving just in time to be in the big battle. The authorities since have decided that Albert's fighting spirit makes up for the years he lacks and he has been allowed to join a battery in the royal field artillery.

Have a service station look over the battery now and often. They are glad to be of service to you and without cost. Let them charge your battery if it has run down and let them keep it charged. Don't forget your battery and be sure and don't forget to add water to offset evaporation.

THREE GOOD HORSES VANISH FROM TRACK

New York, June 17.—The 1918 spring revival of racing on eastern tracks has seen retirement of two of the best horses of a decade and the retrogression of at least one star of other campaigns. Strangely, too, each of these blows came without the slightest warning, and followed each other within a short space of time.

First, it was announced at the Pimlico track in Maryland by a prominent trainer that he had discovered a bowed tendon in Hourless, the great colt from the stable of August Belmont. He declared Hourless would be retired at once, and his prediction was borne out.

Scarcely more than two weeks later came the announcement from the Jamaica track, just at the close of the first short meeting there, that Campfire, R. Wilson's four-year-old star, had developed the same trouble and would race no more.

Then there came the surprising defeat of Omar Khayyam. Wilfred Vissau's star, in the Metropolitan Handicap, and horsemen sat up agast. There is no use camouflaging the issue in regard to this famous horse. He simply appears to have run his race for 1918, and the chances are he will run no more good ones until he has had a long rest. He appeared badly at Pimlico after having won

Letters From Our Soldiers

Letters for this column from Greene county's soldiers are solicited. No matter whether the letter is from a soldier in the training camp or from the battle trenches it is of interest, not only to his close friends but to the general public. Therefore if you receive a letter from a soldier and it contains interesting news pass it along to the newspaper and we will publish it so all his friends may enjoy it. Soldiers are also invited to write directly to the newspaper.

The following letter was received by Mrs. Ella Quirk of Leaman street from her son, Herman Quirk, who was last heard from Camp Mills, New York.

"I will write a few lines to let you know that I am well and hope you are the same. This is some place up here. We are about 25 miles from New York and about the same from Brooklyn. Some of us got a 24-hour pass to New York and Flacker and I were among the lucky ones. We ate our supper down on Broadway and went to Coney Island and spent the rest of the night. On our way to Long Island and we went under Brooklyn bridge.

"When we left Chillicothe we didn't stop until we got to Parkersburg, W. Va. Then the next stop was Clarksburg. Then we stopped several times going over the Allegheny mountains and we also stopped at Cumberland Maryland. We went from there down along the Cumberland river to Harper's Ferry—that is where Washington crossed. Then we went to Washington, marched around the White House, after which we had our dinner. Then we went to Baltimore, from Philadelphia, then to Jersey City, where we stayed all night. We marched around the streets awhile. "That was the second night; the first night we were on the Allegheny Mountains. From Jersey City we went to New York, from there to Brooklyn and then to Long Island, where I am now, but I think we will leave here about Tuesday. I think we are about on our way to the other side.

"You can just write to me and address it here and from now on when you write put that number that I gave you on one corner of the letter; that way they can get it to me. You know the number is 1,951,572. We are sleeping in tents up here. Tell Uncle Dan Pritchard that Harry is up here too."

SISTERS TO MEET AFTER FORTY YEARS

Mrs. Pauline C. King of Everett, Wash., is coming for a visit to her sister, Mrs. Ed. Keiter of Beavertown, and is expected Monday evening. The sisters have not seen each other for 40 years. Mrs. King is going west to live before Mrs. Keiter's marriage. Mrs. King is also coming to see her daughter, Miss Edith Porter of the McClellan Hospital, whom she has not seen for more than five years. Miss Porter took her nurse's training in New York city, and never returned west. She has enlisted in the Red Cross for overseas service and expects to be in France before next winter.

LITTLE BATTERY TALKLittle Causes Back of Battery Trouble

A little too much cranking.

A little lack of distilled water.

A little looseness in battery connections.

A little less charging than battery health requires.

All are little, but any one may grow quickly to the point where the starter, dimmed lights, and dead ignition give a warning that is too late.

In a very few minutes we may be able to tell you facts that will prevent trouble later.

Ask, too, about the Still Better Willard—the only battery with the "Bone Dry" principle that is your absolute assurance of getting a battery as new as the day it left the factory.

DR. G. W. HENDERSON DELIVERS BACCALAUREATE AT WILBERFORCE

The annual commencement exercises of Wilberforce University opened Sunday morning at ten o'clock in the Auditorium of Galloway Hall, where the baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Dr. G. W. Henderson, one of the professors of the institution. The services were largely attended and many distinguished men from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington were present to participate in the program during the week.

The procession was formed at Carnegie library, with President W. S. Scarborough faculty and students, and proceeded to the auditorium. In the line of march were two surviving graduates of the first class, Dr. T. H. Jackson, an instructor in Payne Theological seminary and Dr. J. T. Jennifer of Chicago, these two gentlemen graduating in a class of three in 1870. Since their graduation they have not missed a commencement. The third of the class, a Rev. Welch, died a few years ago.

Bishop C. T. Shafer, of Chicago, president of the University trustee board, presided at the services. After several selections by the choir, under the direction of Mr. George T. Simpson, the invocation was delivered by Rev. G. W. Dawson, of Arkadelphia, Ark. Bishop Shafer introduced the speaker of the morning, Dr. Henderson who discussed the theme, "Re-thinking God," taking his text from the Second Corinthians, first chapter, and third verse. His remarks were directed principally to the graduating class from the various departments of the school who sat in the front seats of the auditorium. "My subject," said the speaker, "is based from the New Testament Idea of God, the Christian conception of God, the God rendered by Jesus Christ, the God whose glory fills the New Testament from Matthew to Revelation and I need not say that there have been many Gods in the world—not a few of them are still to be found, but in all ages and among all tribes there is to be found one God supreme over all."

The speaker then proceeded to define the meaning of God as "understood by the Germans and the power they desired by conquering the world by power, and it was for this supremacy that the nations of the world were in a united conflict to defeat the object that Germany had that Germany so much desired." He stated that both sides believed in God and prayed to him for success, both thanked him for victory and both were in a sense religious and claimed to be Christians, but, said the speaker, "the war party in Germany represents the heathen idea of God as mighty of almighty power and in all the speeches and proclamations of the kaiser no where do we find the name of Jesus he prays to this God of power for success in war, thinks him for victory when it comes. It is the ancient God of the Germans namely Thor, the wielder of the mighty hammer, the embodiment of mighty."

In discussing the term "Universal Democracy," the speaker claimed that the term "brotherhood" had a twin brother, equal "y." In politics, said the speaker, equality is based upon constitutional law or civil rights, but it is not only equality but true equality, the only kind that makes one man equal to another in the essential relations of life is a twin one, brother to brother, born together, both in the mind, the heart of God, they are all inseparable. If democracy means anything it means equality in political rights and privileges in economic and educational opportunities, but no where does law or can law secure these except so far as it is an expression of the spiritual fellowship of man with man, without regards to color, or race, or wealth, or rank, or social position."

The speaker referred to the Jefferson doctrine and the Declaration of Independence which enunciated the doctrine of equality as its fundamental principles, and that it was the birth, technically speaking, of political equality, but a few years later the great leaders of the French Revolution went a step further and proclaimed to the world fraternity and equality. He paid a tribute to the work of France in the present war, "but France," declared the speaker, "represents the spirit of the allies. Not so much in the power of her government as in the spirit of her people and her civilization does she represent the true principles of democracy, and when I hear the slogan make the world safe for democracy, I do not think of England or Italy nor even of America, but of beautiful France. She is the soul of this confederacy, against this Germany savagery. All the world bows in reverence to the spirit of sacrifice, of courage and patience."

The speaker referred to the men who were leaving their homes to cross the waters to fight for universal democracy, and that they were going to France which was a home of fraternity, a country which had known no race as a separate and distinct one.

The graduating class arose in a body and received the closing address who assured them that no man or woman or child could live alone in society. "No true self-culture," said the speaker, "is possible unless it includes your fellowmen. He who lives to himself is a selfish man, he who includes it is the truly noble, self-respecting man. I have often been asked by many students the question 'Is a lie ever justifiable?' My reply has always been, that depends on how much of manhood or womanhood there is in you. Set your mark high, it will solve ten thousand questions which vex other people."

In the evening the address was delivered to the graduating class by Rev. P. S. Hill, who spoke on "Ministerial Stewardship."

Monday morning the board of directors of Payne Theological seminary held a session and heard the report of Dean Geo. F. Woodson and the financial report of Mr. W. A. Anderson, the treasurer. Before the board adjourns they will probably elect an instructor to take the place of Rev. A. W. Thomas, who is now chaplain in the regular army, with headquarters in New Mexico.

At half past seven o'clock the address will be delivered to the literary societies by Mr. C. F. Carr of Palestine, Texas, a former graduate of the school.

Tuesday morning the trustees of the university will open their annual session with Bishop C. T. Shaffer, presiding. President Scarborough Secretary Carl Jenkins and Dr. T. H. Jackson, the treasurer, will submit reports.

SEWAGE CONDITIONS IN CITY SUBJECT OF HEALTH REPORT

City Health Officer Dr. R. H. Grube presented the following report to City Manager Kenyon Riddle which was read at the Thursday night meeting of the City Commissioners. The Commission took action on the report by ordering a strict enforcement of the laws which Dr. Grube cites in the report, which follows:

A recent sanitary survey of the city by this department emphasizes the fact that considerable areas of the city are not supplied with sewers. Sewage fixtures for house waste disposal are no longer luxuries but necessities for house and neighborhood sanitation. This survey has further revealed that the city has an enormous number of insanitary and offensive cess-pools. These have been ordered cleaned and disinfected but in many cases the orders have to be pressed vigorously.

I would respectfully suggest that the sewerage system of the city be extended as rapidly as possible to enable residents of the city to connect with them, especially now that the city is provided with a modern disposal plant. In this connection I wish to quote from the sanitary code adopted by the General Assembly in 1911, and now in force. "Cess-pools prohibited. No cess-pool for sewage shall be constructed where a sewer is available, nor shall any connection from such cess-pool be made with any sewer. Cesspools now existing in premises accessible to a sewer shall be emptied of the contents, cleaned out and be filled with earth or ashes."

It will be the policy of the department of health to enforce these state statutes to the end that Xenia may become as sanitary as it is possible to make it.

Respectfully submitted,
R. H. GRUBE, Health Officer

MOTHER'S CIRCLE ENJOYS OUTING

Quite an interesting party of the Mother's Circle of the Spring Hill school enjoyed an outing at KillCare Park Friday afternoon. After spending the afternoon, wading in the clear, cool waters of the little stream, being stung by the horney nettles and the biting mosquitos, an elaborate supper was spread, at which time many of the wives were joined by their husbands and it is needless to state what was done to that sumptuous food. The children present enjoyed the swings immensely; sitting on the banks of the Miami they could gaze upon the many airplanes winging their flight over the park. Surely, this was a pleasurable event to all present. When the time of departure was at hand, some returned home in loaded automobiles, others took the cars while a large number wended their way homeward on foot arriving at ten o'clock.

May they have many more of these parties in which all the mothers may be permitted to enjoy the social pleasures by which they are attended.

Friday, June 28th, 1918

Has Been Named as National War Savings Day.

You are hereby instructed to appear on that day at the nearest school house or other place locally designated, and enroll as a regular purchaser of WAR SAVING STAMPS. If you do not care to appear personally, you may be represented by the proxy of a pledge card previously signed.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS can be paid for during any month in the year 1918, but it is intended that subscriptions will be signed for them by June 28th.

Cost of War Savings Stamps During June, July and August, 1918

	Cost in June	Cost in July	Cost in August	Are Worth Jan. 1, 1923
1 STAMP	$ 4.17	$ 4.18	$ 4.19	$ 5.00
20 STAMPS	83.40	83.60	83.80	100.00
50 STAMPS	208.50	209.00	209.50	250.00

200 STAMPS	834.00	836.00	838.00	1,000.00

The money invested in WAR SAVINGS STAMPS is not a gift, or a donation, but it is a loan to the Government. If, because of some serious financial reverses, or calamity, it should be necessary to get your money before January 1, 1923, you may do so by giving ten days' notice to any Money Order postmaster. THEY CANNOT FALL IN VALUE BELOW THE PRICE YOU PAID; they are as convenient and as well-paying an investment as has ever been offered by our Government.

The Government of the United States expects all citizens to pledge themselves to save and economize to help win the war.

Do not forget the last day for signing your pledge J U N E 2 8 t h. On that date you must appear at the polling place either in person or by proxy of your pledge card.
